NextGen Luncheon

Agenda Details

Imagine a room where as a young business person you could reap the benefit of four generations worth of experience all within the same industry. The reality is STAFDA's NextGen Luncheon brings attendees under 35, along with invited college students, into a comfortable, sharing atmosphere to enjoy a meal and participate in a generation-spanning panel discussion over lunch. The panel will address recent industry issues, how similar challenges have been met previously, and the unique perspective each age group brings to the workplace.

Panelists will dive headlong into current construction and industrial market topics and answer audience questions.

This is a fantastic opportunity for those just entering the STAFDA channel to build networks with their peers, find mentors, and solidify relationships that extend beyond the Orlando Convention & Trade Show.

Please sign up for the luncheon on STAFDA's Convention registration form (see pages 24-25). There is no additional charge.

Speed Interviewing

1:45 — 3:30 p.m.

Where are you going to find your company's next rock star?

In an extraordinarily tight job market, STAFDA's Speed Interviewing session is an exclusive hiring event for members to talk one-on-one with potential interns and employees. Candidates are upper classmen with industrial distribution, construction management, or related majors from leading universities. Student resumes will be posted in the members-only section of stafda.org for member review prior to the Orlando Convention. Click on the Convention tab and follow the link to "Speed Interviewing" to review resumes and schedule times to meet with select students.

Speed Interviewing is open to STAFDA distributors, manufacturers, and rep agents. During the last Speed Interviewing session, all students interviewed were offered positions with member companies!
