-Over-

In the next five years I hope to develop myself professionally within the supply chain realm. I have been interested in defense contracting work for a little over a year now and have taken the initiative to get assigned part time work with a company already. I hope to be full time with them in the next five years working somewhere on the East Coast like Norfolk, VA where there is a large naval base with lots of opportunities. I also hope to have my security clearance by the time I graduate so I can expand my horizons to classified work and become an asset for the company I work for. I want to become a project manager within ten years but hope to have started shadowing another project manager and earning my certification within five.
